

EPTA Online Event: Dynamic Security

11 May 2021
09:45-11:40 CET

Agenda

Tuesday 11 May
09:45 – 10:00	Logging in to 'Zoom Platform'
10:00 – 10:05	Welcome, introduction
10:05 - 10:35	Best Practices in Dynamic Security Training Henrik Linderborg, Criminal Sanctions Agency, Finland
10:35 – 11:05	Minimum Standards for Dynamic Security Training Laura Kikas, Estonian Academy of Security Sciences, Estonia
11:05 – 11:35	Dynamic Security Training Handbook Ole Stageberg, University College of the Norwegian Correctional Service, Norway
11:35 – 11:40	Closing Remarks

Special Interest Group Members

Jean-Philippe Koopmansch (Training Centre for Penitentiary Staff (OCP, Wallonia, Belgium)

Jean-Philippe Koopmansch is the Head of the Staff Training Center in Belgium. He has a long track-record within the Belgian prison system, having worked as a (deputy) prison director of several prisons. In these positions, dynamic security has been a key focus of his work, for example by implementing prisoner consultative committees and implementing the enneagram tool for prisoners and staff. He has a Master in Criminology.

Henrik Linderborg (Finnish Training Academy for Prison and Probation Staff)

Henrik Linderborg, Doctor of Social Sciences, has over 20 years career on research of Criminal Sanctions practices in Finland and internationally. His main focus has been quality assurance in criminal sanctions practices. In addition, over the years he has conducted social service and criminal sanctions professionals' training on several areas of social work and penal field.

Laura Kikas (College of Justice, Estonian Academy of Security Sciences)

Laura Kikas has had a career in Estonian prison service for 18 years. She started as a social worker in prison, but has had several positions over the years, including in department of prisons in Ministry of Justice and acting director of the male prison. For last years she is running the College of Justice in Estonian Academy of Security Sciences.

Ole Stageberg (University College of Norwegian Correctional Service (KRUS))

Ole Stageberg is Assistant Professor and International Coordinator at the University College of Norwegian Correctional Service (KRUS). He holds a Master degree in Public safety and Risk management and higher education in pedagogy. In his current position, he coordinates projects according to the EEA and Norway Grants and is responsible for prison staff education in Security and Risk knowledge, as well as courses in security, crisis management and risk management for prison staff and management. He has worked as a (senior) officer in Norwegian prisons for 19 years and as a teacher at KRUS for 19 years.